Earthenware/Mid-Stoneware

Clear Glaze 271D

Temperature 1120-1260

Clear Glaze (271D) 1050-1250+°C

A very popular glossy transparent glaze for Terracotta and White clays firing to the above temperatures. Also the standard glaze for bisqueware shapes. The PbO content of this glaze is less than 1% and is present in fritted form. A safe domestic glaze if fired to recommended temperatures.

Preparation

1kg glaze powder to 1.5 lt water

Leave to soak for several hours

Sieve through 80-100 mesh sieve

Addition of 20mls of Rados/1lt of glaze helps suspension, and hardens unfired glaze.

This is an economical glaze and needs to be applied thinly.

Will show milkyness or crazing if applied too thick. May be applied to stoneware, but crazing evident if clay not fired to maximum maturity.

500gr - $9.30

2.5kg - $44.20

25kg - $338.75

White Glaze 191D

Temperature 1120-1260

White Glaze (191D) 1050-1240°C

An opaque zircon glaze giving excellent coverage. This glaze contains less than 0.5% pbO and can therefore be considered leadless. However pottery still needs to be fired to recommended temperatures.

Suitable for Majolica work Preparation

1kg glaze powder to 1.1 lt water

Leave to soak for several hours

Sieve through 80-100 mesh sieve.

20mls Rados /1Lt. glaze (as per Abbots Clear)

This glaze needs to be applied more thickly than the clear glaze to obtain good opaque coverage, especially on terracotta.
